

Obituary

Born: Saturday, December 21, 1985

Died: Friday, March 5, 2021

Alissa Joy Sutton was born December 21, 1985, and died March 5, 2021. She had medical issues from birth which gave her problems intermittently throughout her life, increasingly over the last two years, and ultimately took her life; these medical issues were the door her loving heavenly Father used to bring her home to eternal joy in his presence forevermore.

In spite of her medical issues, her Lord gave her many good years and much joy, and made her a source of joy to many people who had a part in her life, especially her church family whom she loved dearly. She loved and trusted the Lord Jesus, who died for us so that we could have everlasting life, and now she is with him and with much beloved friends and family who went before her. She is deeply missed by family and loved ones, but the grief is tempered by the assurance that the struggles of this life are over forever.

Alissa is survived by her parents, Wayne and Debra Sutton, her grandfather, Bruce Sutton, her sister Amber Bryan and husband Nate Bryan and their children Mikey, Hadi, and Elijah; her sister Anna Sutton; her sister Amanda McCaslin and husband Jim McCaslin and their sons Thrayne and Athens; her sister Jokaysha Sutton and her children Kaya Parker and Reyna Parker; her sisters Janaea Sutton and Ariyah Sutton, and her brothers Daniel Sutton, Robert Sutton, and Jerome McKeith, as well as many aunts, uncles, and cousins.

Alissa was preceded in death by her Grandparents, Alan and Mavis Starch, and Myrtle Sutton, by her brother, Carlos Sutton, and her beloved Aunt Sue Emelander.
